Applying the right analytics to your business doesn't have to be another complex, painstaking headache. Are you searching for ways to reduce the increasing awkwardness of patient payment deliberations?

High deductible, high co-pay health care insurance plans have changed the balance of the doctor-patient relationship. Now providers have to engage patients in difficult to handle discussions about their portion of payments for surgical services. This discussion can get in the way of the kind of doctor-patient relationships that both physicians and patients want to have going into surgery.

Offload the awkward financial discussions and immediately boost your patients' health care experiences. Optimize that experience and you optimize patient health and the likelihood of great word of mouth promotion for your services. Contego provides a highly effective deductible and co-insurance management service so providers can focus on patient care rather than patient out-of-pocket cost.

You want the higher quality of care and the optimized reimbursements that offloading these challenged patient financial discussions will provide. Contego offloads that financial discussion for our surgeon's offices so they can focus on providing care.

Are you pursuing better reimbursements through a rigorous claims and appeals process?

Not all health care claims and appeals processes are equally effective. ERISA and PPACA provide strong and meticulous regulatory frameworks for health care claims and appeals processes. Highly effective claims and appeals processes require years of effort and loads of legal expertise to develop. It's understandably difficult for most surgery centers to be able provide first-class patient service and have time and money left over to devote to developing a first-class claims and appeals process.

Optimize your reimbursements by putting Contego's rigorous claims and appeals process to work for you. Contego has put in the work, the time, and the legal expertise to develop one of the most thorough processes in the industry. Contego applies this process to surgery centers' out-of-network claims. Are you pursuing better reimbursements through applying strong legal processes when and where they are needed?

Watching the shifting state and federal healthcare legal landscape and applying consequent changes to processes requires the experience and care of legal experts. Legal experts also engage employers and plan administrators, when needed, to pave the way to counteract unwarranted denials and to develop successful appeals, thereby optimizing providers' reimbursements. However, not many surgery centers can afford the level of legal expertise that can shift the actions of insurers on claims and appeals.

With Contego, you don't need your own legal department for claims and appeals. When you work with Contego, you already have an experienced legal team working on your behalf to protect your interests, to engage with plan administrators, and to optimize your reimbursements.

You want the optimized reimbursements and the advantages that come through a pinpointed utilization of legal resources. Contego makes sure our clients' legal interests are well protected.

ERISA and PPACA provide the legal framework for all US health care claims and appeals processes. Adherence to these laws and to shifting state health care regulations requires full-time effort by legal experts. Legal experts protect patient claims from unwarranted denials by insurers, thereby optimizing providers' reimbursements. Not many surgery centers can afford the legal expertise to leverage applicable laws to change insurance company behavior.

Are you searching for better reimbursements by helping your patients understand how to use their health care benefits?

It would be easy to overlook the significant role that patients have in the wise stewardship of their healthcare benefits. It would also be a costly mistake. Most patients do not really understand how their health care benefits work. Employers and patients alike pay significantly into health care benefits every month. When patients file claims and insurers deny or underpay, most patients accept the verdict, not knowing their rights and their options. In effect, patients pay for benefits twice...once in the premium and often once again at the point of service. Consequently, providers do not receive reimbursements for services promised in their patients' plan benefits.

Patients don't have to walk the circuitous claims and appeals process alone, wondering what's going to happen next. Contego works with a strategic patient advocacy service that helps each patient understand and use their health care benefits effectively so providers will be reimbursed. Each patient receives one-to-one attention throughout the course of his or her claim and appeal as a complementary service.

You want the optimized reimbursements that come through patients knowledgeably using the health care benefits for which they've already been paying. So does Contego.

Are you pursuing better reimbursements by staying on top of health care law changes from a variety of legal perspectives?

No one can stay on top of all of the state and federal legal shifts that affect health care claims and appeals alone. It requires several legal minds paying a massive amount of attention to a vast array of governmental and legal sources over time to be in position to advance a rigorous and highly effective health care claims and appeals process. Success requires internal and external legal perspectives and expertise.

Contego has obtained this legal expertise and relies on it daily to drive successful claims and appeals for our clients. This expertise mitigates legal and regulatory risk, so providers know they are on solid ground with respect to state and federal laws that govern the health care claims and appeals process.

You want the optimized reimbursements that come through the application of wide and deep legal expertise. Contego provides that for our clients. Are you ready to begin a conversation? Contact us through the information below.
